Sarah Andrews:

I am a student in the GIS Graduate Certificate program at COGS. After a career in the software industry, I decided to pursue a long-held but unexplored interest in geography and GIS and enrolled in the online program at COGS. I am loving learning about GIS technologies and their seemingly endless applications to real-world challenges. When I'm not wrangling maps you can find me baking, making quilts and hanging out with my family.

Amy Hazlett:

Amy Hazlett is currently enrolled remotely in the Geographic Information Systems Graduate Certificate program at the Centre of Geographic Sciences. Amy has a Bachelor of Arts in History, with passion in archaeology and ancient history. After stumbling upon GIS in early 2022, she decided to make a leap and take a chance on a totally new career path. With a hard few months behind her, she is hoping that this challenge will be a good chance to showcase for her newly learned skills!

Ashlyn Durrant:

I am a student in the GIS Certificate Program at COGS. I have a Bachelor of Science in Geography from the University of Lethbridge. My love of GIS started in my undergrad, and I am passionate about applying my GIS skills to various topics, with a particular interest in soils and the environment. Outside of my studies, I enjoy hiking, birding, and adding to my rock collection.
